

Masters Conference for Legal Professionals

October 16-17, 2008

Ronald Reagan Building
1300 Pennsylvania Avenue, NW
Washington, D.C. 20004

“Viewing E-Discovery Through the Corporate Veil” will focus on educating in-house counsel, law firm attorneys and litigation support teams on one of the greatest transformations in litigation over the past decade – the 2006 FRCP amendments as they apply to electronically stored information (ESI). ESI is exploding. Do you know where your information lives?

Rule 702 was among the changes of particular interest to persons dealing with expert opinion evidence. Keynote speaker Magistrate Judge John M. Facciola will address Rule 702 and how it has impacted court cases. Is your witness a qualified expert?

Litigation today is conducted in an increasingly global arena. Foreign Corrupt Practices Act (FCPA) enforcement has exploded in the past couple of years and reaches across industries, with record-setting sanctions involving well-known companies. Come hear from the experts who will discuss FCPA, cross-border litigation, litigation readiness and legal holds.

The Masters Conference also offers cutting-edge industry information. Keynote speaker Robert D. Owen, Partner, Fulbright & Jaworski, LLP will reveal their 5th Annual Litigation Trends Survey before results go public!
